Printing tips

- Print at actual size (100%), not "fit to page".
- Card stock works best for the bingo cards, candles and prize ribbons.
- Cut on the dashed lines. A grown-up can help with the small cards.
- Fill in the quiz with the birthday kid before the party.

Prints on US Letter and A4.

How to Play

Six printable games and some prize ideas

Birthday bingo

Give each player a card and some markers. The caller draws a calling card and shows the picture. First to finish a line shouts "Happy Birthday!"

Scavenger hunt

Kids work in pairs with a pencil. Tick each thing off as you find it. First pair back with every box ticked wins.

Would you rather

Draw a card and read it out. Everyone moves to one side of the room to vote. No wrong answers!

Charades

Split into two teams. Act out the card without talking while your team guesses. One minute per turn.

Who knows the birthday kid best?

The birthday kid fills in the answer sheet before the party. Guests write their guesses on a slip. Most right answers wins.

Pin the candle on the cake

Tape the cake to the wall. Cover the player's eyes, spin gently three times and stick on a candle. Closest to the top wins.

Prize ideas

Stickers, pencils, bubbles, bouncy balls or the prize ribbons on the last page. Make sure every guest wins something by the end of the party.
